

Rosechelle's Story

by Angela Bernard

Once upon a time there was a little girl named Rosechelle. She was very shy and didn't play with any of the other children. She would sit by herself or hide in a corner.

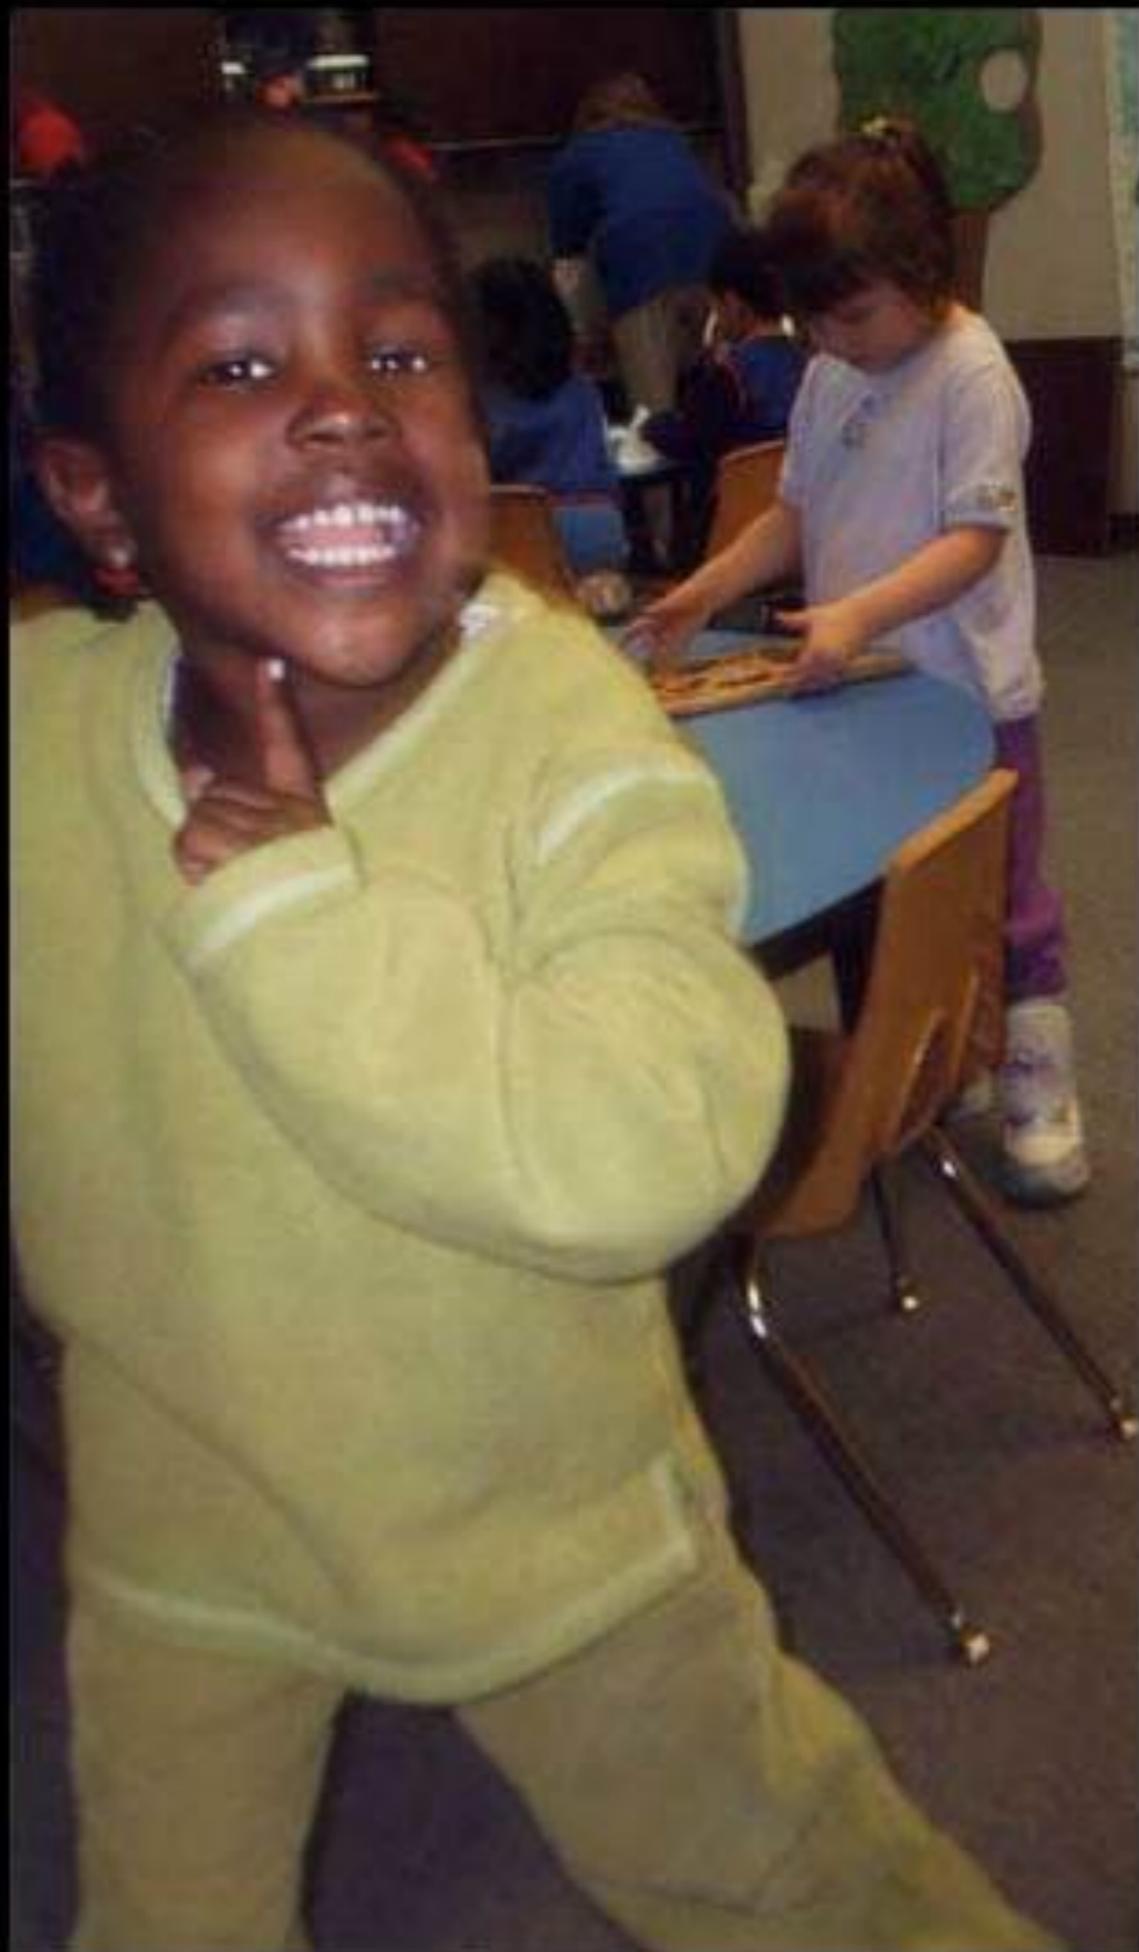

She would look longingly at the other children playing and think, "I wish I could play with them." She didn't know what to do.

One day, one of the Elders of the land noticed Rosechelle not playing with the other children. The Elder asked her to play, but she simply looked away.

A little while later, the Elder came back and noticed Rosechelle dancing by herself. The Elder joined Rosechelle in her dancing and they ended up having great fun.

Rosechelle liked dancing with the elder so much that whenever she saw her she would dance with her.

After dancing with the Elder, Rosechelle decided she would be able to play with just one other person.

Rosechelle started having so much fun that soon enough she began playing with all the children.

Rosechelle became very happy and wasn't ever lonely again.

The End

D2 — Playing Responsively
Project of Understanding
Angela Bernard